

Nebraska AAP & ROCAP present:

SPRING CONFERENCE 2023: UPDATES ON ASSESSMENT AND TREATMENT OF CHILD/ADOLESCENT ANXIETY AND DEPRESSION

Tuesday, May 23, 2023 | 5:00-7:30 PM

ATTEND IN PERSON: Children's Indian Hills East Admin. Bldg
8404 Indian Hills Drive | 1st Floor Conference Room

VIRTUAL ATTENDANCE ALSO AVAILABLE

AGENDA:

5:00 PM

The Evolving Impact of COVID 19 on Youth Mental Health: What Should Pediatricians Know?

- Victor Fornari, MD, MS and David Kaye, MD

Review the rates of mental health disorders in youth during the Covid-19 Pandemic

To appreciate the Impact of Covid-19 on families

To recognize strategies for addressing mental health needs of pediatric patients and families

6:00 PM

Expanding and Enhancing Pediatric Behavioral Health Services in Nebraska

- Jennifer McWilliams, MD

Review current opportunities and challenges of accessing resources for pediatric behavioral health care in Nebraska

Discuss Child Psychiatry Access Program (CPAP) models and applications in Nebraska

Explore future pediatric behavioral health services and collaborations

7:00 PM

Adjourn & Networking Reception

COST:

$45 Pediatric Providers

FREE: Medical Students, Residents & Fellows

PRESENTERS:

Victor Fornari, MD, MS

Child & Adolescent Psychiatrist

Director of the Division of Child & Adolescent Psychiatry at Long Island Jewish Medical Center (including the Zucker Hillside Hospital and the Cohen Children's Medical Center)

Co-Founder of Project TEACH

Investigator of PCORI-funded entitle START (Suicide Treatment Alternatives for Teens)

David L. Kaye, MD

Child & Adolescent Psychiatrist

*Professor of Psychiatry
University of Buffalo Jacobs School of Medicine and Biomedical Sciences*

Co-Founder and Executive Director of Project TEACH

Jennifer McWilliams, MD

Child & Adolescent Psychiatrist

Children's Hospital & Medical Center Behavioral Health

Assistant Professor, UNMC Department of Psychiatry

*CME: PENDING ****

<https://NESpringConference2023.eventbrite.com>